SARA CREWE

Aegypan. Paperback. Condition: New. 68 pages. Dimensions: 8.8in. x 5.9in. x 0.5in. Little Sara Crewe was eight years old, she had been brought to Miss Minchin as a pupil, and left with her. Her papa had brought her all the way from India. Her mamma had died when she was a baby, and her papa had kept her with him as long as he could. And then, finding the hot climate was making her very delicate, he had brought her to England and left her with Miss Minchin, to be part of the Select Seminary for Young Ladies. Sara, who had always been a sharp little child, who remembered things, recollected hearing him say that he had not a relative in the world whom he knew of, and so he was obliged to place her at a boarding-school, and he had heard Miss Minchin's establishment spoken of very highly. The same day, he took Sara out and bought her a great many beautiful clothes -- clothes so grand and rich that only a very young and inexperienced man would have bought them for a mite of a child . . . Everybody was in love with Little Lord Fauntleroy, and I think all the world and the rest of mankind will be in love with Sara Crewe. I wish every girl in America could read it. -- Louise Chandler Moulton
