Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Patenting and Promoting Inventions With the passing of every century seems to have come the dawn of a new era, and each succeeding one, as it slowly rolls around, goes down into history to be referred to by all future generations by that title which best describes its dominant note, race, or most characteristic achievement. So with the birth of the Nineteenth Century sprang into life a new race, the race of inventors, destined in turn to bring about the most romantic and epochal era of civilized man. The Era of Invention. Certainly prior to that time there existed no such race. To the centuries that went before, the word invention had little meaning. True, there was a straggling handful of progenitors who came before, but this virile and scattered few followed for the most part discursive careers, and the reward for their efforts came in the form of bitterest contempt or persecution at the hands of their contemporaries. They were iconoclasts, thought to be, in many instances, emissaries of Satan himself. Their discouragements were of a nature calculated to destroy all hope, and to snuff out even the last flickering flame of genius.
